“Scientific knowledge that supports nursing practice is in a continual state of evolution,” stated Regina Cunningham, RN, Ph.D., AOCN. “Nurses practicing in cancer care today need a variety of resources to build their knowledge base and remain current so they can provide the best possible care,” she continued. Proceeds of this event will provide educational opportunities for nurses from CINJ and its Network of hospitals to build upon their oncology expertise and keep abreast of the latest research findings, treatment practices, and patient care.

The Cancer Institute of New Jersey is New Jersey's first and only National Cancer Institute-designated Comprehensive Cancer Center, and is dedicated to improving the prevention, detection, treatment and care of patients with cancer.
