

Virtual Lung Nodule Clinic

Chest CT scans may reveal unexpected findings that can cause anxiety. Often these findings are harmless and should not cause concern. However, occasionally more serious findings are identified, including lung cancer, requiring further evaluation and treatment by a qualified health care professional.

If you or a loved one have had a CT scan of the chest that shows an abnormality, the Virtual Lung Clinic provides expert analysis for peace of mind and care planning.

The Clinic offers:

- Virtual appointments with doctors specializing in lung disease within the next business day.
- Specialists to review the findings and develop a care plan.
- Referrals to appropriate specialists, if needed.

Our goal is to expedite this process to ensure optimal health care. Please call us at 732-235-6097.
