HYATT REGENCY NEW BRUNSWICK • NEW BRUNSWICK, NEW JERSEY

PROGRAM OVERVIEW

Therapy advancements and the complexity of new regimens to treat patients with cancer have contributed to the elevation of the roles of both the inpatient and outpatient pharmacist. Clinical specialists contribute significantly to therapy decisions. This meeting will provide practical live education to pharmacists practicing in the oncology clinic, hospital, and specialty pharmacy settings on topics that include non-Hodgkin lymphoma, acute myeloid leukemia, chronic lymphocytic leukemia, multiple myeloma, and other hematologic malignancies.
