Please Note:

A pre-requisite to participating in the skills session is the completion of the American Heart Association's online HeartCode BLS program. The online interactive course can be accessed at <http://onlineaha.org/courses/84> and should take approximately 1.75 hours to complete. Each participant must purchase the online portion ($28.50) directly through the AHA's website linked above and bring a hard copy of their completion certificate to the skills session. Attendance for the entire course (8:00–9:45am) on one day is required for successful completion.

The cost for skills testing is $47 and is payable at the time of the training either in cash or check made payable to Rutgers University.
